On Oct. 13, Irell & Manella LLP scored a $240 million verdict for Streamscale in a patent infringement suit against Cloudera, which involved cloud-based data storage. After a four-day trial, the jury found that Cloudera infringed all of the asserted claims of the three patents at issue in the case. The jury also found Cloudera did not prove that any of the claims were invalid. The trial was heard before Judge Alan Albright in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Texas.
